ON AIR BIO

Dr. Stanton Hom - DC, DACCP, CCWP is the Founder of Future Generations: a global movement normalizing vibrant health for life by providing freedom focused care and education so we can experience our innate genetic potential.

Together, he and his team have built one of the top clinics in the world through their innovative and against the grain approach that catalyzes radical healing of chronic health issues in patients of all ages.

After graduating from the United States Military Academy at West Point and earning a bachelors of science in Chemistry/Life Science/Pre-Medicine, Dr. Stanton was fortunate enough to be selected for an internship at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Upon completion of Los Angeles College of Chiropractic in 2010, he has since served the San Diego community with vitalistic chiropractic care, specializing in the whole family from preconception through birth, infants, childhood and beyond.

His own self-healing has inspired him to take on a new mission of chiropractic that eventually led to a breakthrough method in 2013 that he now teaches to an international community called "Freedom Focused Care."

As the Host of the Future Generations Podcast, an informed dad and prenatal/pediatric chiropractic specialist, he leads a worldwide movement that stands for Health Freedom for All Generations.

I believe it is our birthright to be free in our personal sovereignty and health." - Dr. Stanton Hom
